

Wells Fargo
666 Walnut Street
Des Moines, IA 50309
wellsfargo.com

May 20th, 2018

Women of Influence/Emerging Leaders

Subject: Jen Cross - Nominee

To whom it may concern:

I would like to support and recommend Jen Cross as a candidate for the Greater Des Moines Women of Influence award.

Jen is compassionate, hardworking, and cares deeply about how our state is represented locally and nationally. Jen is a staple within our community when it comes to giving back, volunteering, and leading the charge on several non-profit boards within Central Iowa. I often see Jen at numerous volunteer events inspiring social change and sharing her passion for our great city.

I have worked with Jen for the last 3 years and she has become our go to person for Wells Fargo when it comes to knowing what's happening within Central Iowa. She has inspired me to make a better impact and create positive change within the community. Jen has been strategic and vital to our final decision in sponsoring several volunteer and national events that put Des Moines on the map. Wells Fargo's volunteer commitment and effort is more prominent and known within Des Moines because of Jen. She has a pulse on our city and makes a huge difference in our success. She listens, she understands, offers guidance, and always does the right thing.

I have never met a person who is willing to go above and beyond and never seeks recognition or praise. She is one of the most talented women we have in our community. She is our future!

Please let me know if you have any further questions or in need of additional information.

Sincerely,

Mark Nichols
Vice President of Marketing
Wells Fargo Community Banking

