To whom it may concern,

It is my privilege to recommend Rosalind Fox for the Women of Influence. I collaborate with Rosalind in a local networking group for female leaders, and her presence consistently contributes to the integrity of our roles and purpose as leaders.

What has always struck me about Rosalind is her ethical compass. I look to her as a mentoring figure, one who has demonstrated years of hard work and resiliency, while never compromising who she is at her core. Rather, it is because of who she is that she has made a positive impact on those with whom she collaborates and leads. She communicates with professionalism, compassion, and vision while promoting high quality performance and teamwork. Put simply, Rosalind does not lose sight of her greater purpose in her role as a professional, as a leader, and as a contributing member of our community.

Awarding Rosalind Fox with this honor illuminates and celebrates who she is as leader. I recommend her without reservation.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jill Urich
