To whom it may concern:

Renee Raap is an up and coming leader who has made positive impacts to the Claims Call Center, Nationwide, and the community as a whole. I give my recommendation of Renee, on behalf of her nomination, for the award of Woman of Influence. Renee has been a leader at Nationwide for the past 7 years and has had a positive influence on many associates from both a personal and career perspective. Renee is a strong believer in building relationships and helping others develop skills so they in turn can help others. Renee uses her approachability, leadership skills, and project management skills to help the team and business unit succeed and better serve our customers.

I appreciate Renee's passion for community service. In 2012, Renee was a Nationwide Volunteer of the Year finalist and was locally awarded with the 2012 Ronald McDonald House Volunteer of the Year. She is also active with the United Way. She serves on the Education Committee which is responsible for on boarding new campaign volunteers. Internally, Renee has served as a local business lead resulting in increased awareness and increased giving from the team. Finally, Renee has further benefited the community by serving at the local YMCA.

Renee is someone that has a passion to help others succeed. This is evident in the job she does at Nationwide and the good she has done in the community. I am fortunate to have Renee as a leader on the team as I know her values, drive, and compassion for others has a positive impact on many.

Sincerely,

Todd Robertson
